

Recovery Friendly Workplace Overview

Launched in 2018 by Governor Sununu, New Hampshire's Recovery Friendly Workplace (RFW) initiative promotes individual and workplace wellness by creating work environments that further the mental and physical well-being of employees. This is accomplished by providing businesses with tools and resources to create supportive workplace cultures where people in or seeking recovery from substance use disorder (SUD) can grow and succeed. The initiative also provides support for those who may have a loved one with an SUD.

Through this initiative, workplaces:

Receive support and guidance from Recovery Friendly Advisors, regional Public Health Networks, Recovery Community Organizations, and peer Champions of Recovery Friendly Workplace.

Get connected to SUD-related information, trainings, and services that are tailored to meet the needs of organizations of all sizes and levels of readiness.

Gain access to tools and resources to better support employees and create a culture where conversations about issues related to mental health and SUD are encouraged.

All RFW services are offered at no cost and are tailored to meet the unique needs of each workplace.
